

MEANING, MEMORY & MYSTERY: EXPLORING SPIRITUAL CARE IN LONG-TERM CARE HOMES

FREE WEBINAR

WEDNESDAY, APRIL 24, 2019
1:30PM–2:30PM EDT

JANE KUEPFER, PHD, MDIV, RP
Schlegel Specialist in Spirituality
and Aging | Schlegel-UW Research
Institute for Aging

When life is difficult and/or long, it begs for meaning - Who am I, and why am I still alive? What is my role, now, in my family and community? How do I deal with change and loss? What is the meaning of life? These are spiritual questions.

Canadian society is shifting from a time when traditional religious expression was common, to greater diversity in our understandings of spirituality. How, then, do we support the spirits of all those in our long-term care (LTC) communities? What addresses our needs for love, hope, peace, joy?

BY ATTENDING THIS WEBINAR YOU WILL...

- Explore the meaning of 'spirituality' and how it intersects with the experience of aging.
- Become more aware of:
 - The spiritual needs of residents.
 - 'Spiritual resources' people access and how we can support them.
 - Barriers that get in the way of optimum spiritual care.
- Imagine new ways of supporting the spirits of residents, families and team members, making spiritual care more accessible for everyone.

Would you like a copy of the Multi-faith Resource Guide? Complete the survey at the end of the webinar and we'll send you one FREE of charge! (Ontario only)

