

Free Webinar - Nurses Leading in Long-Term Care: Navigating Professional Boundaries in Everyday Practice

Wednesday, October 7, 2026 at 10 a.m. - 11 a.m.

Join the Ontario CLRI at Bruyère Health and the College of Nurses of Ontario for a free webinar, Nurses Leading in Long-Term Care: Navigating Professional Boundaries in Everyday Practice to connect nurses and nurse leaders working in long-term care.

By the end of this session, participants will be able to:

- Describe the key updates to the Professional Boundaries and Nurse-Client Relationships practice standard.
- Explain the three key principles of the standard: the therapeutic nurse-client relationship, professional boundaries and protection from abuse.
- Apply these three principles to long-term care scenarios, to identify concerns and respond appropriately.

This session includes an interactive component. We kindly ask attendees to bring a smartphone or digital device to participate in the activity. Spots are limited, so access to the webinar will be on a first-come-first-served basis.

For questions related to this webinar, contact us at clri-nurseleadership@bruyere.org

Presenter:
Sarah Alley, RN, BScN,
MPH (she/her)
Advanced Practice
Consultant, College of Nurses of Ontario (CNO)

Scan here to register

